

Mark Gussetti

Mark Gussetti is a senior learning consultant with Mindset, one of Sweden's leading training companies.

Mark has held various positions during his over 20 year career, including serving as a Global Training Manager for a global SAP roll out and establishing a corporate sourcing academy for a multinational organization.

Mark is currently working with a number of national and international organizations, helping them to align their competence development strategies with the Kirkpatrick methodology.

Mark earned his Bachelor of Science (with Honors) in International Business and Economics from Aston Business School in the UK, and he holds Disc® and Belbin® certifications. Mark is Kirkpatrick bronze level certified.

